North Idaho Centennial

TRAIL

About The Trail

The North Idaho Centennial Trail is a multi-use recreational trail that extends from the Idaho/Washington border, meandering through Post Falls along the Spokane river to Higgins Point on beautiful Lake Coeur d'Alene. It is primarily composed of class 1 separated, paved trail with limited segments of class 2. The trail is designed for use by people of all ages and abilities, whether walking, running or cycling. The trail has numerous rest areas, scenic overlooks and interpretative signs to add to your enjoyment of one of the most beautiful trail systems anywhere.
